The Rev. Rob Grabill is a member of the UCC Climate Justice Council, and the Chair of the UCC New Hampshire Conference Environmental Justice Mission Group. He retired last summer as the Associate Pastor at the Church of Christ at Dartmouth College, UCC, and is now able to devote even more time to the work of climate justice at all levels of the church. He spends one or two weeks every summer at the Horton Center summer camp in the White Mountains of NH, a camp and retreat center for all ages. This June he will be traveling to Michigan for the first year of a multi-generational Climate Justice Camp which he helped establish with the Illinois Conference of the UCC. A participant in the first Earth Day in 1970 as a college student, he is looking forward to his 60th one in a few years.
